

Empowering Futures – International Volunteer Day, Honouring Karrinyup Rotarians

The Karrinyup Rotary Club was selected as one of 74 volunteer organisations across Western Australia to be recognised and celebrated on International Volunteer Day 2025. This honour highlights the incredible role they play in building connected, inclusive communities.

On Thursday, 4 December, the Apprentice Employment Network WA (AEN WA) honoured and celebrated the Karrinyup Rotarians with a celebratory lunch for their outstanding contributions as volunteers, under the banner, Empowering Futures – International Volunteer Day, supported by the Department of Communities.

Rotary is built on the principle of service, and celebrations like this allow AEN WA to highlight the great work the Karrinyup Rotarians undertake and to thank them for their limitless kindness, commitment, and energy. Their involvement, in whatever form, genuinely impacts the lives of the communities they serve.

We thank the strength and spirit of the 40-member Karrinyup Rotary Club, who collectively have decades of service to: youth leaders; apprentices; nurses; international exchange students; the poor and marginalised; and people displaced from war-torn countries. Each member willingly gives their time and energy and plays a vital and unique role in fostering connected, inclusive communities both locally and globally.

The Apprentice Employment Network WA is proud to partner with this volunteer organisation. We are deeply grateful for the generous donations they've provided to support our members' apprentices and trainees on their vocational education journeys and for their ongoing commitment of support.

The Apprentice Employment Network WA (AEN WA) serves as the leading not-for-profit association for 22 member Group Training Organisations (GTOS) in Western Australia, which employ around 2,000 to 2,700 apprentices and trainees across various industries. This positions the Network as the largest employer of apprentices and trainees in WA. Founded in 1993, AEN WA has held registered charity status since 2017.

AEN WA is dedicated to advocating, prioritising, promoting and safeguarding the interests of our GTO members to enhance their service delivery in all areas of training and employment related to apprenticeships and traineeships. Visit our website for further information: WWW.AENWA.COM.AU
